IMPEACH PRESIDENT SOCIOPATH
AUGUST 17, 2009

Anonymous Commenter On Zerohedge:

In many of these comments there seems to be an underlying assumption that Obama is continuing this drive to wealth destruction, state backed robbery, and the essential destruction of our representative democracy out of at best simple naivete and at worst an unintentional but relatively benign bias towards principles that are inconsistent with the execution of his oath of office.

How about a simpler explanation - Obama is achieving exactly what he wishes to achieve. The destruction we see around us will in due time keep most people so occupied with existential matters they will have no time or energy to fight the aggregated power of the group to which Obama belongs. The next presidential election will be, if held, a complete sham. Those who have the ability and connections will be relatively protected - Goldman Sachs, Friends of Obama, etc.

The rest of us will effectively be slaves.

Not a pretty thing to mull over as it requires some terrifying assumptions. However in the spirit of at least considering the possibility of a scenario we would like to think wildly improbable I'd say that the concept that things are going according to a plan cannot be summarily discarded as completely inconsistent with the environment. Time will tell, as usual.
