We Need Monasteries

By The Rev. David R. Graham

Lots and lots of monasteries.

Anchorites, coenobites, families with children, hermits, eremites, recluses, cloistered, non-cloistered, whatever: one-ness-es (Greek monastērion, alone as one).

The answer to the organized crime family and its syndicates which has overtaken the White House is monasteries. Lots and lots of monasteries.

Civilization has been overwhelmed by anti-Civilization. "Get thee to a [monastery, to solitude]" (Shakespeare, Hamlet, Act 3, Scene 1.)

Why do queers try to look queer? What's there to be proud of?

"Libtards" doesn't go anywhere. "Organized crime" does. These people are not liberals. I am a liberal. These people are an organized crime family acting as international terrorists.

Afghanistan is an organized crime family. Treated on that basis, the "war" is eminently and necessarily win-able.

Anyone who pulls back from doing that is a member of an organized crime family with roots in Afghanistan.

Afghanistan is a war against organized crime.

Iraq is a war against international terrorists.

They are incomparable and both are necessary and unavoidable.

Anyone who doesn't want to fight the former is an organized crime figure.

Anyone who doesn't want to fight the latter is an international terrorist.

We Need Monasteries

By The Rev. David R. Graham

Americans are selfish, lazy, fickle and stupid. One minute they fight organized crime and international terrorists. The next minute they allow organized crime figures and international terrorists to get into their Executive Mansion and the gangs those bad actors represent to overwhelm Congress and the Courts.

It has to be said that Americans deserve whatever they get out of this evil that has overwhelmed them.

We need monasteries, lots and lots of monasteries.

“Everything you see I owe to spaghetti.”
